Subject Dyson in the USA

A little piece of information came my way today from a very reliable source Dyson will be launching the DC07 upright in September in the US but only on a regional basis. I would anticipate that would most likely be the North Eastern United States but don't know for sure. The idea is to concentrate resources on a region rather than spread them nationally.

Subject: ✓ DYSON

In a conversation with Grahame Capron-Tee, I learned the following:

- Per original contract, Fantom is paying a royalty to Dyson. Furthermore, a minimum amount was established, which due to current sales volume, is likely not an issue.
- Per original contract, Dyson would be precluded from entering North America with his own products. Fantom may have an arrangement whereby they can market Fantom made product under the Dyson name but pay license fee back to Dyson. I don't see how the latter would make sense.
- Grahame is documenting his total knowledge of the Dyson-Fantom relationship, and I should have it in a week.
